

THE ASSASSINATION OF CHIEF EXECUTIVE IS ATTEMPTED TODAY BY DEMENTED MAN

MAN SOUGHT ROOSEVELT LAST NIGHT

Arrested and Searched--Loaded Revolver Found--Believed To Be Demented--Prisoner Is Henry Weinbrenner.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 2.—Henry Weinbrenner is in jail here, suspected of planning to make an attempt upon the life of the nation's chief executive. He is supposed to be deranged mentally.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.) Oyster Bay, Sept. 2.—A man supposed to be demented made an attempt last night to reach President Roosevelt. He was arrested by the secret service men guarding the president. On his person was found a .34 caliber revolver. It is believed his intention was to assassinate the president.

The man's name is Henry Weinbrenner. He lives at Syosset on Long Island, a small place seven miles from the president's summer home.

Claimed an Engagement
A secret service man who has been detailed to guard the front of the house was standing in the roadway at about ten o'clock last night when an unknown man drove up in a carriage. He was held up in a hundred feet from the house and he announced that he had an engagement to meet the president.

Arrest Threatened
He gave his name and said the president had telegraphed for him. The guard examined his list and found no such name so he ordered Weinbrenner to drive on. The latter objected but left after being threatened with arrest.

He returned a half hour later and again insisted upon seeing the president. He was again refused admittance and departed apparently chagrined.

Revolver Was Loaded
Half an hour later he put in an appearance again and this time the guard as a matter of precaution placed him under arrest. He was immediately searched and a revolver with every chamber loaded was found. Later a search of the grounds was made and footprints were found in the rear of the house. A heavy guard was placed about the house and Weinbrenner was taken to Oyster Bay, where he was incarcerated. He was questioned this morning and from his manner it is plain that he is demented. He will probably be thoroughly examined later in the day.

Who Is He

Weinbrenner is the son of a German truck driver. He is about 25 years of age and the secret service men have no doubt that he intended to kill the president should he have been able to reach him.

Examined This Morning

Weinbrenner was arraigned in the police court this morning. He was plainly erratic and insisted that he had called at Sagamore Hill by request of the president, when asked how and when he was called there he replied:

"The president talks and I hear him. He is in his house and I'm in mine, but I cannot always hear him. He talks about his daughter Alice. I wanted to marry her. I have seen her a number of times. She came to my house in an automobile about a month ago, accompanied by her brother, Theodore."

Plainly Was Crazy

As he was plainly demented the court cut short the examination and remanded him back to his cell. He will be examined as to his sanity this afternoon and is likely to be committed to some institution. One of his brothers was in the court room this morning and stated that while he had always been more or less slightly none of his family suspected that he was insane.

Weinbrenner is a short, stockily built, dark complexioned German with three days' growth of beard upon his cheeks and a closely cropped mustache. He kept his hands folded across his vest and his eyes upon the ground while he answered the questions fired at him in a low monotone. He was asked if he had any statement to make after examination and replied—no.

WOMAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY THE WILD WEST SHOW IN EVANSVILLE

Loaded Cartridge Slipped by Accident Into Rifle of Performer at the Fair Yesterday Afternoon--A Big Crowd Present.

(Special To The Gazette.) Evansville, Wis., Sept. 2.—While watching a wild west performance given on a platform, Mrs. E. J. Record was yesterday afternoon struck in the right arm by a bullet from one of the rifles. The lead penetrated the arm between the elbow and the shoulder, and could not be located by local physicians who were summoned immediately.

Mrs. Record was taken to Madison today, where the X-ray apparatus will be used. The loaded cartridge was substituted by accident for a blank. No prosecution of the show people is expected.

The wild west performance was one of the features of the fair. Races are beginning today, and they are expected to draw a crowd which will eclipse the 3,000 mark which was reached yesterday.

MASKED MEN BREAK INTO JAIL

Endeavor to Enter Cell of Murderer, But Are Frightened Away.

Indianola, Neb., Sept. 2.—Four masked men broke into the county jail here and attempted to blow off the locks of the steel cage occupied by Charles M. McMillon, slayer of Lee Jones, awaiting trial on a charge of murder. They succeeded in getting two of the locks off, but the noise aroused the jailer and the men fled. The identity of the men is unknown, and whether their purpose was to harm or liberate McMillon is equally a mystery.

CIVILIANS SWARM OUT TO BATTALION'S CAMP

NO WIND, PREVENTS TODAY'S CUP RACE

Yachts Waited Around the Starting Point for Four Hours--Race Declared Off.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.)

Highlands, N. J., Sept. 2.—After the required four hours' wait around the starting point with no sign of wind from any direction the regatta committee notified the skippers of the Reliance and the Shamrock that the race scheduled for today, was declared off. The sailors on the Reliance and Shamrock arose this morning with hopes that the final race of the series might be sailed, but not a breath of air was stirring and a heavy fog hung over the course. The boats went to the starting point at the customary hour despite the unfavorable conditions. At ten o'clock there was still no wind and the committee decided to postpone the start.

SLUDER REPUDIATES CONFESSION TO POLICE

Declares He Lied When Confronted by Man He Accused of Murder at Car Barns.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—John Sluder's "confession" is a tissue of lies. After sixty-six hours of unremitting investigation, the Chicago police department had gathered sufficient evidence to prove that it was false from beginning to end.

Late last night Sluder himself coolly declared that he had lied all the way through, and Chief O'Neill was forced to admit that his men are no nearer the capture of the gang that held up and murdered the Chicago City Railway company's employees Sunday morning than they have been since the deed was committed.

At 8 o'clock last night, when the police officials felt certain that they had the ringleader of the gang in custody, Sluder's denial fell like a thunderbolt. Early in the evening the police arrested Stanley Mallski, whose picture Sluder had identified as the leader of the men who committed the robbery and murders.

Within two hours of his arrest, Mallski was brought face to face with Sluder in the Englewood police station.

"Who is this?" asked Chief O'Neill as soon as Sluder was brought into the room where Mallski was standing. Sluder looked well at Mallski before he answered:

"I do not know him."

Chief O'Neill wheeled like a flash and glared at Sluder, who met his gaze without wincing.

"Then what about the confession you made implicating him?" thundered the chief.

"It was all a lie," Sluder replied, without a tremor in his voice, and looking straight at Chief O'Neill.

CREATES EXCITEMENT AT WEDDING CEREMONY

Disgruntled Youth Fires Revolver at Groom Because He Did Not Favor His Sister's Choice.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 2.—One of the most tragic events ever known in Kenosha occurred at the home of R. H. Marshall, in Pomeroy street, when a son, Earl Marshall, 20 years of age, fired two shots into a wedding party. It is supposed he intended to take the life of J. W. Roberts of Dudley, Iowa, who had just been married to Marshall's sister.

In the confusion Marshall ran from the house and escaped. Miss Nellie Marshall was the bride and about thirty friends and relatives of the family had gathered to witness the nuptial ceremony. The guests had gathered in the parlor of the house for the ceremony, but the face of young Marshall was missing. He had been asked to attend the ceremony, but on account of his opposition to the wedding had declined the invitation.

Just as the ceremony was concluded young Marshall entered and began firing. His shots went wild and no one was hurt. One of the bullets whizzed past the head of the groom, narrowly missing the minister, while the other passed over his father's head.

Spring Brook Grounds, Where Fourteenth and Twenty-First Batteries Spent Night.

VARIETY OF TENTS

Soldiers Tell Ubiquitous Listeners of Hardships of Life of Uncle Sam's Warriors.

Several hundred people visited the camps of the 14th and 21st batteries at Spring Brook last evening. The scene at the grounds was not unlike that at a circus. The two hundred or more horses were ranged in two long parallel lines in the center of the little canvas city. Radiating in every direction in no discernible order were the tents of the officers and men.

Some Sleep in the Open

Of these tents there were several varieties and sizes. The most interesting to the average visitor were the doll-tents which are only about three feet high and are just large enough for two men to sleep in. They are made of two pieces of canvas that button together and each soldier is responsible for his half. This ingenious arrangement provides a desirable economy in weight on the march. Then there were large round tents that accommodate from ten to fifteen men, and the ordinary wall tents for two. Many of the soldiers prefer not to carry any canvas and sleep in the open.

None Contract Gout

Stable call was sounded at 4:30 in the afternoon. This signal summons the men to feed and water the horses. The bugle call for retreat was sounded at seven. After roll call the men were dismissed until reveille at seven o'clock this morning. Those in the commissary department, however, were compelled to remain in camp to make preparations for the morning meal. Their operations interested the crowd of visitors who flocked about their tents and watched them "butcher" the loaves of bread and slices of pork. The morsels were not very tempting. The soldier has no pie nor cake in camp. "The difference between our food in camp and at the fort," said one of them, "is that we have butter and milk at the fort."

Many disabused their minds of the impression that the regular army men as a class are rough, rude, boisterous, and beastly men whom it is advisable to give a full share of the sidewalk in passing. The visitors yesterday were the direct antithesis of all of this. They were polite and courteous to all visitors at their camps and even when stopped on the streets to answer foolish questions, preserved this same gentlemanly demeanor.

A Sticking Incident

A striking illustration of this was afforded in a colloquy that took place near one of the cook tents early in the evening. The people had been pressing around the table on which the food was being prepared and the two soldiers in charge were discussing in a low voice ways and means of getting them out of their way. "I have been expecting at any moment to be called upon for a speech," said the tall soldier with a white apron as he polished his butcher knife to cut a loaf of bread into four sections.

"We were given orders not to allow them to crowd around here this way, but I won't say anything to them if I go to the guardhouse for it," said a short companion. "I don't want anyone down on me. This thing is new to them and if I said anything they wouldn't understand it—it would hurt their feelings."

Several of the soldiers were catechized by would-be recruits. Some of them did not draw very alluring pictures of army life, particularly one man who had twelve "bobs," which translated means that he had been court-martialed twelve times during his service. Six court martials entitle a man to a dishonorable discharge but this particular offender had shown a bit too much anxiety at times to secure this discharge. He called attention to the meager salary of $13 a month for privates and the galling limits that were placed on a man's freedom of action, and the pursuit of happiness. "My advice is: 'Keep out of the army!'" he said as he reflected bitterly on his court martial and the fine imposed on the previous evening for returning to camp in an intoxicated condition.

Big Interest on Loans

A companion spoke in a more cheerful vein. He said big money was to be made on small capital in the army. By an unwritten law, the rate of interest on loans made among the soldiers is twenty percent per month. This rate is approved by the captain and when a loan is made with his approval he compels the payment of interest and principal on the part of the borrower, ordering the paymaster to deduct

MINERS IN MISSOURI VIOLATE AGREEMENT

Refuse to Work Pending Adjustment of Scale by President Mitchell and the Operators.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 2.—Six hundred coal miners in the Novinger district in northeastern Missouri refused to go to work Sept. 1, violating the agreement made between the operators and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, at Chicago, that the men remain at work until the end of the Kansas City conference to meet Sept. 10. This conference is to discuss differences affecting the 10,000 miners in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Indian Territory.

The mines affected are J. C. Tarney's, R. E. Rombauer's two mines, three owned by the Manufacturers' Coal and Coke Company, an adjunct of the new railway recently built by John W. Gates; the mines of the Sheridan Coal Company and the Bolen-Darnall Coal Company's mine at Highe. They are thin vein mines.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers of America said concerning the action of the miners of the Novinger district: "President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis and I conferred with the Missouri operators in Chicago and it was agreed that the miners should continue work till Sept. 10. Since these men have broken their contract we shall doubtless be compelled to use stringent methods to force them to live up to their contract. This district is the most disaffected in Missouri."

FARMER KILLS HIS DAUGHTER

Fires at Supposed Crows and Slays His Child.

Otsego, Mich., Sept. 2.—Duncan Swan, a well-known farmer residing north of this village, accidentally shot his daughter Mary and she died from the wound. Swan had been troubled with crows in his corn. He saw the stalks moving and thinking crows were in the patch again discharged his shotgun at the moving corn. To his horror, his daughter screamed, and he found that he had shot her in the breast. She was gathering corn for dinner and her father did not know it. Swan is nearly crazed.

DOCTOR KILLS HIMSELF TO ESCAPE DISGRACE

Charged With Causing Death of Woman Through Malpractice He Cuts His Jugular.

Mendota, Ill., Sept. 2.—Rather than suffer the disgrace of a trial on a criminal charge, Dr. F. N. English, one of the best known physicians of this city, committed suicide. Sheriff Trumbo and Deputy Poyseke had arrested Dr. English and Mrs. Ed Lawrie on the charge of murder by causing the death of Mrs. Leroy Smith of La Salle through malpractice. Mrs. Smith died at the hospital and the warrants for the doctor and Mrs. Lawrie were sworn out.

Dr. English was arrested at his home in this city and taken to the city jail to await the arrival of the train for Ottawa. When the officers went to secure him they found him lying in a pool of blood dead, having committed suicide in their absence by cutting his jugular vein.

Dr. English was a leading figure in several fraternal societies and prominent in social circles. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Stella Taylor of La Salle and was but lately married to Leroy Smith, formerly of Mendota.

REV. R. C. DENISON TALKS OF HIS TRIP TO EUROPE RECENTLY

Will Give Series of Stereopticon Lectures This Fall, Embodying Results of His Sightseeing--

Opinion of English Dress.

Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the First Congregational church, spoke in an interesting manner last evening of his five weeks' trip through Europe, from which he returned last week. Most of the time was spent in the north of France and England, though brief visits were made in Holland and Belgium. Some of the cities in which Rev. Denison was particularly interested will be made the topics of Thursday evening lectures late in the fall.

Cathedral Towns

A series of photographs and lantern slides were secured and these will supplement the lectures. Included among them are reproductions of some of the masterpieces of art in the Louvre and Luxembourg galleries, the cathedrals of Rouen, Bayeux, and Chartres, scenes from Bonaparte's birthplace, and school-boy life of Rugby, England. Rouen, it will be remembered, was William the Conqueror's city and is inseparably associated with the life of Joan of Arc. Bonaparte possesses the loftiest Gothic building in the world—the choir of a ruined cathedral 157 feet high.

Impressions by the Way

Rev. Denison was in Paris on the day when Cardinal Sarto was elected pope. Little enthusiasm was manifested over the result. One of the leading daily papers, L'Eclair, a copy of which was brought back by the Janesville man, published an atrocious out of the new pope on the front page, and evidently in apology printed another, which was even worse, on the last page. The news-papers are four-page affairs badly printed on a poor grade of paper.

"Paris has never appealed to me," said Rev. Denison when asked to give his impression of the city. "There is much gaiety and glamour, but little that is substantial and solid. It is superficial. French wit, as far as Paris is concerned, is nothing more than nastiness."

Intensive Agriculture

"The people living in the country districts are of an entirely different class. They are a sober, industrious and thrifty race. I visited Chartres which is in the center of the wheat belt. Not an inch of ground is wasted. Parents and children were cutting the grain with sickles and scythes and although some of the fields covered a wide area, I only saw one reaping machine. Every bit of straw or head of grain is

MACLEAN LEAVES THE ART STUDY

OBLIGED TO RESIGN OFFICE OF MANAGER.

HIS HEALTH WAS FAILING HIM

John H. Phillips, Prominent Chicago Manager of Bicycle Company, Elected To Succeed Him.

Collyer C. MacLean's connection with the Art Study company terminated this morning, much to the disappointment of the men associated with him. Under the strain of the management of a rapidly developing business requiring strict attention to countless details, Mr. MacLean's health rapidly failed him, until he was brought face to face with a realization of his weakened physical condition that forced him to tender his resignation.

Stockholders Met Today

The directors of the company, Messrs. Malay and Post both being present, met this morning in their offices and accepted the resignation of their president and manager. To fill the place left vacant by Mr. MacLean's voluntary withdrawal, John H. Phillips of Chicago was elected president and manager.

Miss Belle MacLean continues as secretary and no other changes were made.

Will Be Successful

Mr. Phillips is regarded as the man for the place. He is one of Chicago's hustling business men. For seven years past he has been manager of the Mead Cycle company, a house that is as well known as any business house in the west.

He will make Janesville his home, and in entering upon his new work he is confident of large success. The directors feel that they have a worthy successor for Mr. MacLean. The latter leaves with regret, as he had been with the business long enough to realize that it contained great possibilities. He will rest for a time before engaging in active work.

To Extend Scope

When in charge of the Mead Cycle company, Mr. Phillips established a record by his work in the foreign field, and he plans to duplicate his achievement in that direction in his labors to advance the Art Study company. The scope of the company will be so extended as to make it possible to handle orders from all corners of the globe.

Three freight cars and a combination baggage and passenger car were derailed on the Warren express division, a branch of the Mineral Point division, not far from Shullsburg, last evening. The wreck was caused by a broken flange of a wheel on an Illinois Central freight car which happened to be one of the three. No one was injured. A wrecking train was sent from Milwaukee. Gen. Foreman Fox left for Shullsburg this morning.

Harry H. McKinney is expected to return tomorrow from a hunting trip in the north central part of the state, near Grand Rapids.

PARK COMMITTEE WILL MAKE TRIP

Aldermen Will Look Over the Parks of the City Tomorrow Afternoon—Go in Carriages.

Aldermen Matheson, Sale, Mills, Hemming—members of the common council committee on parks, are slated for a circuit of the parks of the city tomorrow afternoon.

Prompt at four o'clock the trip will begin. Two members of the committee have buggies, and they will be stationed at the courthouse park at the appointed hour. Alderman Matheson, chairman of the committee, says that the committee is scheduled for a strenuous session. "There are some trees to be taken out, and others to be put in. Then there is the problem of providing water for the east end of the courthouse park. Several other questions must also be settled."

It is to be presumed that the aldermanic delegation will not personally root up the offending shrubbery, or plant the new bits of foliage.

At the next meeting of the organization which will occur next Monday evening at Mr. Taylor's studio, a name will be selected by which the quartette will be known. It is intended that the organization shall become permanent.

WARM GREETING FOR MR. OYSTER

Bivalve Reaches Janesville Sooner Than Usual Because of Cool Weather.

Mr. Oyster is here. He made his arrival officially the last of last week, and the unprecedented cold weather has insured for him an unusually hearty greeting.

It is a full week early that he has come, but he saw the opportunity for him to make himself solid with the people, and so he departed from the time-honored traditions regarding the "Y" months.

On Mr. Oyster's baggage is the address, "N. Y." There is a state law in Maryland, prohibiting the shipment of oysters until September, and this law makes no allowance for cool summers, hence, the succulent Baltimore bivalve has not yet registered in the city.

Several questions regarding membership, plans, and other details will be decided upon at this meeting. A new name will be selected and the club intends to arrange for regular engagements during the winter, some of the best mandolin and guitar players in the city belong to this organization and their playing is of a high standard. Some of the present members are: Morris Erickson, A. V. Lyle, F. E. Williams, Ben Marksman, Oscar Halverson and W. H. Douglas.

ROLLER MILL AT AFTON IS SOLD

J. A. Hoskins Gives Up Control of an Old Landmark—He Has Operated It Many Years.

The old Afton roller mill that for the last thirty years has been busy grinding for the farmers of that part of Rock county, has changed hands. The former owner who has had charge of the mill for many years, J. A. Hoskins, will retire from the grain business and the new man, Wm. DeNoyer, of Whitewater, will soon take charge of this well known structure that has, at one time or another served many a Rock county farmer.

The new management will entirely overhaul the machinery and apparatus and it will be run in the future as an up-to-date roller mill. The rollers have not, of late, been used extensively, as most of the work has been done in the other way. Mr. DeNoyer will move his family from the old home as soon as possible and will locate in Afton.

GYPSIES CARRY BEAR IN WAGON

Wandering Horse Traders Make Unusually Frequent Visits to Janesville This Year.

Horse trading—as the gypsies manage it, appears to be a profitable business, judging from the almost continuous string of outfits that have passed through the city this summer. Not a week has gone by but a family or more of the wanderers has encamped somewhere on the outskirts of the city.

The usual round of rickety wagons laden with horses, dark skinned men and women and children, all wearing worn out flannel contrasting poorly with their usual shabby outfits has become monotonous but there was a little more variety in the group that passed up Main street this morning. A big black bear, like the ones that advertise Pettibone's breakfast food trotted under one of the wagons while a monkey was perched serenely at the front end of another.

PREPARE SYSTEM FOR THE WINTER

Fire Alarm Telegraph Wires Being Put Ship-Shape for Coming Stormy Months.

Chief Klein of the fire department is making a thorough inspection of all the fire boxes and lines in the city to be certain of their condition before the winter season sets in. The examination is made every year and has just been started for this fall. It is expected that it will take several weeks to go over all the lines for the examination is conducted with care.
The main work is the taking up of slack wires, straightening them and testing the stations. An examination of some of the water pipes has also been made, to determine if electrolysis has taken place but only a very slight trace of it was found.
A new box is to be installed, probably during the latter part of the week. It will be number 44 and placed at the corner of Academy and North streets. There are at present 58 boxes in the city so the number will be increased at least one before winter.

Town Talks.

One dark and rainy night last week a young girl was standing at the intersection of Cherry and High streets, evidently waiting for some one. As she stood there with the wind moaning among the branches of the trees that line the walks at this point, and the pouring rain beating on the leaves and pattering around her on the sidewalks she started by the appearance, near a wall directly beside her, of a immense figure, some ten feet high. It immediately vanished and soon her friend was seen coming down the street. The girl appeared much relieved and the two went away together.
On dark rainy nights, at the intersection of High and Cherry streets, there occurs this moving picture show that is not only real and startling, but all the characters shown on the screen are living Janesvillians. A brick house stands near this corner, facing on High street with a side wall that is nearly at right angle with the upper end of this street. The are lights that span that thoroughfare between Cherry street crossing and Milwaukee street are so placed as to cast shadows of intermediate objects directly on the wall of the above mentioned house, which acts as a large screen.
Pedestrians crossing High street, on Pleasant or Dodge streets, can see huge outlines of themselves, in black and white, pass along the wall, and sometimes, it is noticed, that a person standing near the corner, will visibly start and turn around, when a big black carriage with two horses passes noiselessly by, almost beside him. It is not easy to see where the originals of the objects shown on the wall are located.

WHEELMAN BEGINS LENGTHY JOURNEY

C. C. Conley Starts Upon Bicycle Ride from Rockford to Escanaba, Michigan.

C. C. Conley of Rockford who is a teacher in one of the ward schools at Escanaba, Michigan, passed through here today on his wheel en route to the Michigan city. He left Rockford shortly after eight in the morning and arrived in the Bower City in time for dinner. It is his plan to reach Watertown by this evening and Escanaba by Saturday evening. His luggage has been sent on by express and little is carried on the wheel. As the trip will mean nearly a week on the road, Mr. Conley intends to rely mostly on good hearted farmers along his path to keep him supplied with the necessities of life. It is his intention to go slowly and enjoy the beauties of the country instead of rushing blindly long as most bikers are wont to do.

Champion Greer.

America's New Premier Oarsman Is a New Englander. Titus Not Satisfied.

Frank B. Greer, who recently won at Worcester, Mass., the single sculls championship of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, is a native of Massachusetts, hailing from East Boston. He has been a prominent competitor in national regattas of the past. By defeating ex-Champion Constance S. Titus, Greer settled up several old scores, and it is probable that a special match race between the men will be arranged.

After his defeat by Greer, Titus said: "I do not underestimate Greer's speed, and but for the hard luck I had at the turning of the stake boat I would not complain. An official held me up at the turn for some time, and before I could get away Greer had opened up such a long lead that I saw it was a hopeless task to try to row him down. Under perfectly fair conditions I feel satisfied that I can give him a race. I will keep on trying, and we will probably have it out again."

Greer said after the race: "I never knew what condition was before, and I owe much to Jim Ten Eyck for teaching me to scull properly. There never was a moment when I felt the least doubt of beating Titus, and I am sorry that Scholes did not start."

"Did you ever notice," said a Chicago sporting man recently, "that pugilists are as partial to dogs as old maids are to cats? You probably never thought of it, because when you see a fighter in the ring, on the stage or on a car the dog of course isn't along. But just let me give you the list as far as I can remember it at this moment: Jim Corbett's colie, Laddie, of course, has been written up before now. Jeff has a big St. Bernard he owns in partnership with Billy Delaney. Fitz is followed everywhere, when he's at home, by his white bull terrier Phil. Sharkey, too, has a bull terrier of the same hue, named Jack. McGovern has a setter he thinks a lot of. 'Mysterious Billy' Smith has a kennel of fourteen dogs. McCoy has a fox terrier that is his constant shadow. And so on down the line. Gus Rulfin is the only dogless pugilist I know."

Margaret MacDonald, the champion girl swimmer of the Hudson river, says:

"Few girls become strong swimmers because they consider the exercise to be too much of a strain. Well, it is hard work unless you keep in practice and develop a correct stroke. Then the labor involved becomes a great pleasure. Any girl can make herself a strong swimmer if she but determines to succeed. 'Keep everlastingly at it,' should be her motto. She should remember to take slow, even strokes; to breathe regularly, inhaling with the upward and outward movement of the arms and exhaling as she brings her arms downward or toward her body; lastly, to learn to kick correctly and forcefully. Most women do not derive the benefit they should from their kick. They had best take lessons concerning this feature from an instructor, and then practice faithfully. 'Home wasn't built in a day,' and a good swimmer isn't made in a week or a month, either."

Costly Reliance.
Reliance is one of the costliest racing yachts ever built, requiring thus far an expenditure of more than $200,000. Constitution, built two years ago by the August Belmont syndicate, has never taken part in a cup race, yet she has established the high water mark as a consumer of legal tender. She has cost upward of $275,000 to build, equip, man and keep in commission. She has no practical value as a pleasure craft owing to the abnormal mode of construction made necessary and can be devoted only to racing purposes by her owners.

St. Louis Fair Sport Director.
James E. Sullivan of New York, who has been appointed director of physical culture at the St. Louis world's fair, is well qualified for the position. He has had twenty-five years' connection with amateur athletics and was assistant director of the Paris exposition sports in 1900 and was in charge of the Pan-American sports at Buffalo in 1901. The physical culture department at the St. Louis exposition will be one of seventeen, and every effort will be made to make it a success.

On a newly erected memorial stone in Yarmouth appears this inscription: "In memory of —, who died of disease contracted in South Africa. The Lord be praised." Wiltshire has this epitaph: "Beneath this soil a lump of clay lies Arabella Young, who on the 24th of May began to hold her tongue."

THE FRANCHISE

The council acted wisely in refusing to grant the requests made for changes in the interurban franchise by the Janesville Traction company. There is no reason except a desire on the part of the company why these concessions should be granted.

It is generally conceded that an interurban line to Madison would pay. The terminal at the Capitol City is attractive and of more interest to southern Wisconsin people than the terminal at Rockford. The Madison lakes are also attractive and the summer resort travel will be heavy and profitable. The travel between Harvard and Geneva Lake has been double this summer what it was a year ago, and will continue to increase.

It is perfectly natural that the Janesville Traction company should desire to control the Madison franchise, and while many people felt that the council made a mistake in favoring this company at the expense of the home company, yet they would have been generally satisfied had the provisions of the franchise been carried out. The company still has an opportunity, the necessary bond being the only present requirement. If this is forthcoming the people will be satisfied. Should this provision not be met, it leaves the field open, and it is safe to say that it will not long remain unoccupied.

The gentlemen behind the Southern Wisconsin Interurban company, who competed for the franchise in June, were prepared at that time to except the provisions, and a million and a half of money was secured by the contract to finance the enterprise. When they were turned down the whole matter of course was dropped. It is quite possible that the same parties may feel inclined to re-enter the field if it is open, but the lateness of the season will of course necessitate more time and mean delay.

Interurban promoters have found that it is a difficult thing to get into Madison and unless satisfactory arrangements can be made with the capital city, the Janesville franchise is of but little importance.

The Bower city wants the road, and it wants it as a terminal station. Janesville should be the center of half a dozen roads within the next few years and there is every reason to believe that it will be if the enterprise is profitably handled.

TOO TRANSPARENT.

It has been suggested by men who speak for the state administration that Senator Whitehead is too small a man to reply to the governor and that the task should be assigned to either Senator Quarles or Spooner. The sublime egotism contained in the suggestion is characteristic of the chief executive, but the general public is at a loss to know what interest the United States senators have in the matter.

The governor is traveling over the state attacking the character and integrity of the men who would not bow to his dictation in the last legislature. Senator Whitehead is on the list, and he is abundantly able to defend himself if given the opportunity.

It may be gratifying to the managers of county fairs to entertain the governor of the state. The office carries with it honor and any man who occupies it is entitled to recognition, but the members of the legislature are also representatives of the people—and when they are criticized before their constituency, they have a right to be heard in their own defense. The Evansville fair managers make a mistake in not conceding this right, and if the governor was a party to it, he has gained nothing by the transaction.

CHARGES OF BRIBERY

In Governor La Follette's regular and oft-repeated speech alleging that railroad legislation in all the state is controlled by bribery he makes this charge: "The New York legislative investigation of the Erie railroad reported that more than $1,000,000 was spent in one year for 'extraneous services' and that money paid to political bosses was charged to the 'India rubber account.'"

President Underwood of the Erie railroad writes a letter to ask why Governor La Follette did not explain that this legislative investigation of his company's affairs was not recent history, but that it occurred in 1872, thirty-one years ago. The inquiry related to events of the Gould and "Jim" Fiske regime.

The corruption and scandal occurred in Tweed times, when Tweed was a member of the New York senate and there was a cataclysm of scandal regarding legislative and municipal thievery and when buying up a legislature or wrecking a great corporation was as common as the formation of a new trust is in these days.

As a result of the investigation in question, prosecuted by Samuel J. Tilden, Lucius Robinson, John Bigelow and other distinguished Democratic reformers, Jay Gould refunded the immense sum of $9,000,000 in securities to the treasury of the Erie railroad company, which saved the corporation from hopeless bankruptcy, which led to its rehabilitation and to its present great prosperity. It is one of the best railroads in the world today.

These dates and incidents—showing that railroad corruptions which he described occurred more than a generation ago and that an honest legislature righted the great wrongs of its predecessor—Governor La Follette strangely omits and suppresses. He suppresses or perverts the truth of history for his demagogic purposes.

The Wisconsin Republican Bryan should follow rules of honesty and candor in discussing the populist side of the day if he can!—Chicago Chronicle.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Sir Thomas Lipton the gallant Irish Yachtsman, represents a type of manhood of which any nation has occasion to feel proud. Twice he has suffered defeat at the hands of American competitors, and his latest effort is doomed to the same fate, but through it all he is the same smiling courteous gentleman.

Mr. Lipton has been unjustly accused of spending money lavishly on boats for advertising purposes. It is generally known that he is the largest tea merchant in the world, having stores scattered all over Europe, but there is nothing to indicate that his visits to America have any relation to business.

His yachting contests have cost him more than $2,000,000 in clean money, and aside from the fact that his name has become familiar, he has but little to show in a financial way for the investment. It is not reasonable to suppose that Lipton's tea will be in greater demand in American homes because interest in the man is largely confined to yachting circles.

Sir Thomas is a genuine sportsman. He possesses the wealth to cultivate his tastes in this direction, and while doing it, he furnishes employment to a small army of men.

Had he succeeded in winning the American cup he would doubtless have come back to try another year. He is a gentleman under defeat and because of this fact he enjoys in large degree the respect of the American public.

In another column will be found an expose from the Chicago Chronicle. Governor La Follette in his recent Chatauqua speech attempted to bolster up a weak argument by using the Erie railroad as a catspaw. He forgot to state that the history was more than 30 years old and that the experience cost the perpetrators $90,000,000.

Bryanism in Nebraska means a renewal of populism. That party has taken him up in advance and is satisfied with his leadership. What La Folletteism may do for Wisconsin is not yet fully determined but the state will land on its feet when it comes to its senses.

Tom Johnson was too much for Bryan in Ohio, and he has cancelled his political engagement in the Buckeye state. Perhaps he can be persuaded to come to Wisconsin next year and help La Follette out.

Pumpkins and politics are not good mixers. They are not cultivated in the same garden. The Evansville fair management may discover that their pie is all dough.

A half truth is frequently as misleading as a falsehood, and the governor is noted for this class of arguments.

The Shamrock is a good sailer, manned with a gallant crew, but a little slow for American waters and American seamen.

The best boat won and her name is Reliance.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee News: Governor La Follette may be confident that his county fair arguments are unanswerable, but Colonel Hannan isn't taking any chances.

Marion Advertiser: The reason the editor of the Winneconne Local is such a sharp paragrapher is that his intellect is brightened up by "Old Crowe spirits."

Eau Claire Telegram: The discussion of Wisconsin politics in a large portion of the press of this state has degenerated into a series of mere squabbles over nothing.

HARD STRUGGLE AGAINST WATER

Immense Weight of Rock River Pressing Against Embankments of Electric Company.

TWO INCHES GAIN IN HEIGHT OF WATER.

Difficulty in Withstanding Encroachments of River, Filtering Between the Boards.

ATTEMPT TO LAY CEMENT FLOOR

With tons of water kept from them by only a line of thin boards, the men of the new power plant of the Janesville Electric company have been laboring desperately, endeavoring to prepare the ground at the old flood gate for the reception of the cement foundation for the wheelhouse and to prevent the embankments giving way. All summer the work has been delayed by the continued high water but a few weeks ago it seemed as if the river was really going down. The flow over the dam did lessen considerably, and work was pushed at the Ford mill. Then came more rains and although it has been dry weather here for several days, there must have been frequent rains to the northward for the stream has continued to rise, slowly but steadily for the past seven days.

Gained Two Inches. Day before yesterday a gain of two inches was recorded by the men at the plant. The continued high water has caused a steady leakage through the dirt bank that had been built below the old wheel pits and the amount of water within the inclosure and behind the cofferdam has increased, rather than diminished in spite of the fact that two pumps have been continuously at work. The water percolating through the cofferdam itself and through the stonework and embankments on either side is another reason why it has been difficult to get the ground on the site of the proposed wheelhouse dry and fit to work.

Third Pump. A third pump is now being put in position beside the other two and a temporary line was strung today from the main power house down to Ford's mill to furnish the requisite power to keep all three pumps going to their full capacity. The timbers for a lower cofferdam to be built along the inside of the bank of dirt and stones are now partially in place and have already been sunk more than half way across from the outer stone work of the dam. The lower earth dam was constructed with the dirt and stones that were taken from the excavating along the west bank and from the stonework of the old structure that supported the gates.

Dirt Washed from Embankment. It is thought that the action of the water in the lower river has washed away much of the dirt from below the embankment and afforded a means for quantities of the water to gain entrance to the inside of the enclosure. When the lower cofferdam is completed it is believed that this leakage will stop and the pumps will then be able to take care of the water that comes in from other places. Unless more rain causes a much greater rise no further delay is anticipated.

Cars Run by Monterey Power. As soon as certain parts to the switchboard at the main powerhouse arrive, which will be in the course of a week, all of the street cars will run by the Monterey power which has heretofore been taking care of the street lighting and the main power on South River street has run the other lights and taken care of the balance of the work.

BELATED PONIES HAD HARD TRIP

Animals with Seibel Dog and Pony Show Were Taken Ill and Left Behind.

Two little black and white ponies that were taken sick while out with the Seibel Dog and Pony show were left by the management at the show's quarters in Whitewater.

Yesterday they were taken out to rejoin the show and were supposed to reach the aggregation at Rockford where the circus is now playing.

Owing to bad roads the wagons that were carrying the tiny horses became delayed and only arrived in Janesville this morning. Besides the ponies a quantity of freight for the show was carried in the wagon and the three horses that had to pull the load appeared badly fatigued out when the outfit stopped on South River street. The driver endeavored to arrange to meet the show at Beloit and soon left town. The trip from Watertown to Rockford is a long one and the horses showed the effect of their three days' on the dusty roads.

Officer Fanning Fires Several Times at Bob Welsh, But Without Result.

Officer Patrick Fanning gave chase to Bob Welsh, who is wanted to answer to the charge of assault and battery preferred by his sister, near the gas house, yesterday afternoon. Welsh espied the officer in the stockyards, when he was some distance away, and took to his heels down the railroad tracks. The latter called to him to halt and when he did not obey the officer fired several pistol shots in his direction. The fugitive, however, only increased his pace, and was soon out of reach. The sister claims that he struck her on the head with a dipper.

NEVER FEARED THE YOUNGSTERS

COLD WEATHER HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON SWIMMERS.

MANY POPULAR BATHING HOLES

Up Stream and Down Stream the Lads with Sunburned Backs Are Sporting in Rock River.

In spite of the approaching fall and the chill breezes of early autumn Rock river continues popular with a large majority of Janesville swimmers and there is a crowd of them too, especially small boys, who having been brought up and lived all their lives near the stream have become so accustomed to taking advantage of the exercise almost daily during the warm months, that swimming and all the "stunts" connected with it, have become almost a second nature to them. To jump and dive into the "silvery flood" is one of life's dearest pleasures to the small boy. Perhaps Rock river is not a silvery flood, but it is fun, just the same, and mud is healthful, anyway.

While swimming is one of the best and most invigorating exercises it has its dangers, and Rock river is not the safest place to learn water navigation or to practice the art after it has been acquired. The river, in fact, has a reputation that is not particularly inviting to prospective swimmers and the yearly record of its victims shows that the current is as relentless as the sea which it is rolling to meet. Almost every year one life anyway, is lost, one swimmer, "knew how to swim."

Fatality Decreases Popularity. For a short time after each of these drownings the favorite pools are vacant, then the sport continues with more care, but soon the fun goes on as before, until once more the boats are seen patrolling up and down and the drags are out. The temporary quieting and decrease in the sport in this way was noticed when J. A. Vermilya lost his life when bathing near the "sandbar" this summer. Now that is nearly forgotten and the warm weather of the last few days has caused a renewal of the sport.

Perhaps one of the favorite places for those who do not care how they get into the water or whether they have a place to dress, is in front of the City Ice company's lower storage house and directly across the river from the building. At both of these places the bottom is fairly smooth and slopes away, from a depth of a foot or so near the banks, to eight or ten feet further from the shore. At the icehouse, is the long ice carrier which runs out over the river, high in the air and makes a fine place to dive and jump from. On the other side, just above the bridge, a spring board is kept up by the habitude of the place although sometimes it is badly in need of repair. Further up stream there are numerous places along the banks on both sides, where the bottom is made up of sand and pebbles, and all of these locations are taken advantage of by the bathers and swimmers.

A Dangerous Hole. One of the best known and possibly the most dangerous part of the river that is used to swim in is commonly designated as the "sandbar," which is half a mile further up stream off the west bank. At this point is a deep ravine which leads through a field and way back up to Washington street. During heavy rains a vast quantity of water finds its way into this ravine and empties into the river off the sandbar. The result has been that tons of dirt and sand have been washed out into the bed of the stream. This has narrowed the river and the action of the water causes the bank to drop off suddenly at the edge of the sandbar. This fact combined with the strength of the current, is what causes the danger at this point. For anyone who cannot swim, it is foolhardiness to enter the river here, especially during high water.

Hot of Good Places. There are many other swimming holes further up the river which are known to farmer boys and private spring-boards conveniently located belonging to the summer cottages. Down stream, also are many resorts for the small boy to learn to accustom himself to the water, from some mud puddles, near the back water in Spring Brook to the many pools along the wooded banks of Monterey.

The muddiest and dirtiest place of all on the river near Janesville, and yet a swimming pool, that is a great favorite with many boys, is that portion of the mill race, just below where the Art Study company is now located. The condition of the water along here and under the covered part of the race baffles description, but the boys appear to enjoy the sport. It may be perfectly safe for the mud and refuse is so thick that it is not likely that one could sink.

Henry Tarrant, one of Rock county's oldest and most respected residents, passed away at his home at the corner of Ruger avenue and Forest Park Boulevard at half past three this morning. His condition soon became very critical and it was known last night that his hours were numbered.

Leaves Five Children. A wife and five children survive him. They are: Henry, Elmer, and Ethel Tarrant of this city; Mrs. Edward Kelly of Minneapolis; and Irving Tarrant of Milwaukee. The funeral will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. Tippet officiating.

Mrs. Magnus Hanson. The funeral of the late Mrs. Magnus Hanson will be held from the house at two o'clock, and from the church at half past two, Thursday afternoon.

An opportunity to view the remains will be given at the house tomorrow morning.

Local Officers Warned That Thief Has Been Traced to This County.

The system worked in Rock county by B. S. Garry who was recently sent to the Green Bay reformatory for stealing a horse of John L. Fisher and a buggy and harness from Mark Swan, was duplicated in Green county last night.

The thieves secured the horse at the Stephenson premises at Albany and taking the animal down the road about a mile and a half stopped at the Dolan farm to get the buggy. ...Forty Years Ago...

forty years ago
Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, Sept. 2.—THE SIEGE IN CHARLESTON HARBOR.—A correspondent writes: The siege of Fort Sumter that is now going on is probably the first attempt in the military history of the world, where a distant fortification has been literally besieged over the heads of the garrisons of two other fortifications in direct line of the point of attack.

WASHINGTON, TIMES DISPATCH.—Tonight there are rumors that a large force of rebel cavalry were at Great Falls, 11 miles from Washington. Probably some of our cavalry has been sent in pursuit and can hardly fail to meet them. The report that Lee with 50,000 men had crossed the Rappahannock at Port Conway, is discredited here, no such intelligence having reached the war department.

At a recent festive meeting a married man, who ought to have known better, proposed, "The ladies, the-begins who divide our sorrows, double our joys and treble our expenses."

SALE OF CAMELS.—On Saturday a novel feature in the stock market presented itself. Three camels, which were captured by Gen. Curtis's army in Arkansas, nearly a year ago, and which have been out to grass on a farm in Iowa for some time recruiting their physical condition, were exposed to a sale by the government auctioneer.

THE FOURTH WISCONSIN.—The gallant 4th Wisconsin regiment of infantry is still in Louisiana, and has recently been converted into a cavalry regiment. For months past they have been mounted infantry. The horses were those gobbled from the secession. An order from Adj. Gen. Gaylord announces that hereafter they will be known as the 4th Wisconsin cavalry.

Coming Attractions.

CALENDAR AT MYERS GRAND
Sept. 5—"The Girl from Chilly."
Sept. 7—"Root-Gardner Moving Pictures."
Sept. 14—"Sky Farm."
Sept. 15—"At Cripple Creek."
Sept. 21—"Walker Whiteside in 'We Are King.'
Sept. 24—"Quincy Adams Sawyer."

A strictly high grade, clean, interesting minstrel show under canvas is a decided novelty, and that is one of the reasons why Beach & Bowers and their big company play to the utmost capacity of their big tent every night. It is not the same old show; it is bigger and better. Many familiar faces are there, but a few new ones are to be seen and their acts are strictly in accordance with the general character of the whole entertainment. Bobby Beach and Otis Bowers are, of course, the center of attraction, and they are as funny as ever. They are at the corner of West Milwaukee and Academy Sts., tomorrow.

"Sky Farm" the play which is billed at the Myers Grand for an early date, is considered the equal of, if not superior to those other great successes of Mr. Kidder, "A Poor Relation" and "Peaceful Valley," which that author furnished the late Sol. Smith Russell. The company cast to the various characters has never been surpassed in a piece of similar kind, for each individual is a finished actor in his or her respective line of work. The result is a beautifully rounded and harmonious whole. "Sky Farm" succeeds with a great mass of theatre goesers probably because of its super abundance of fun and love-making. It has given the keenest satisfaction to thousands of the best class theatre patrons and is destined to throng the house here.

"Oh, that knocked the wind out of me," said a tall good looking young man as he sat in the Olympic theatre, Chicago, the other night, watching the exhibition of the Root-Gardner fight pictures. The young man was George Gardner, who defeated Jack Root for the championship of the light heavy-weight class. Gardner lies like the pictures of the fight at Fort Erie so well, that he can be seen sitting in the orchestra of the theatre watching the moving pictures, and recalling to memory the moments of the fight.

The Polyscope pictures to be seen at the Myers Grand Monday, Sept. 7, are beyond doubt the best that have ever been exhibited, for each blow can be seen, and the rapidity that both men showed in the fight, is said to be the best ever seen in a championship contest. Root can be seen taking the count after being knocked down, and displaying his gameness, by rising to his feet and sailing into the Lowell fighter.

The pictures are augmented with a select vaudeville bill and Jack Root the famous light heavy-weight in scientific exhibition.

Cool Weather Retards Crops.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

In the northern districts eastward of the Rocky mountains the week ended Aug. 31 was abnormally cool with excessive rainfall, except over a few limited areas. In the southern states and over the southern portions of the central valleys and middle Atlantic states the temperature averaged about the normal, and was generally favorable for the advancement of crops, although portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf districts suffered from excessive heat. Portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf states, and of Tennessee, southern Missouri, Arkansas and western Texas are in need of rain, while heavy rains in the Missouri valley and lake region have delayed work, causing injury to grain in shock, and retarded the maturity of crops. Showers in the north Pacific coast states have been highly beneficial. Light frosts, causing no serious damage, were of general occurrence in the middle and northern Rocky mountain districts on the 27th and 28th.

Corn Needs Warmth.

Over the northern portion of the northern belt cool, wet weather has been very unfavorable for the advancement of corn, which is urgently in need of warm, dry weather. More favorable conditions prevailed over the southern portion of the northern belt, where the crop has made good progress. The outlook in the upper Ohio valley, where corn has suffered seriously from drought, has been greatly improved by recent rains. Cutting is in progress in the southern portions of Kansas and Missouri.

Harvest of spring wheat is finished.

JAP GUNBOAT HALTS AMERICAN

Steamer Sent by a Russian Firm to Yonampoh Is Turned Back.

Peking, Sept. 2.—A telegram has been received here announcing that the steamer Stanley Dollar (formerly a Danish vessel, but now owned by an American), sent by a Russian company from Tien Tsin to Yonampoh, at the mouth of the Yalu river, Korea, for a cargo of lumber from the Russian concession on the Yalu river, was prevented from entering the port by a Japanese gunboat, whose commander said Yonampoh was not an open port; that foreign merchant vessels had no right to enter.

FALLS DEAD UTTERING PRAYER

Aged Clergyman Expires From Heart Failure While in Pulpit.

New York, Sept. 2.—While reciting

a prayer in the pulpit of St. Paul's church at Inwood, L. I., Rev. Gilbert Combs stopped in the middle of a sentence and sank to the floor. One of the congregation, hastening to his side, found the minister, who was 79 years old, dead from heart failure. For a moment the congregation was almost panic stricken. Quiet was soon restored and the worshippers slowly left the church.

Where Violets Are Raised.
Recent years have brought an enormous growth in the use of violets, and this has been to the great advantage of parts of Dutchess county, New York, where the soil is proving especially adapted to the growing of violets. In the vicinity of Red Hook and Rhinebeck more than 125 violet houses are operated, and dozens more are being built.

PANAMA FACES HEAVY REVOLT

INSURGENTS ARE WELL ARMED

Guns That Government Had Confiscated Are Again in Their Hands. Together With Supply of Ammunition Direct From the Factories.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Sept. 2.—The isthmus is alight with fires of a new revolution. The Indians have risen and the late followers of General Benjamin Herrera are mustering in the mountain villages preparatory to joining an organized revolt caused by the rejection of the Panama canal treaty.

Hundreds of stacks of arms confiscated by the Colombian government at the close of the late revolution have reappeared from some mysterious source. With the arms goes ammunition fresh from factories, showing the movement is not spasmodic, but carefully planned.

Herrera Disappears.
Travelers from Panama to Puenta Arenas say that in Panama it is reported that General Herrera has disappeared from his home near Bogota, and is presumed to be on his way to the isthmus. If this is true, Herrera probably will again assume command of the revolutionary forces and cast his lot with the isthmian people, as was his intention had the late revolution terminated in favor of the liberal party.

Lorenzo Gathers Army.
Gen. Victoriano Lorenzo, who was banished to Cauca after the surrender of the liberal forces last December, has escaped and is presumed to be in the marshes making his way back to the isthmus. Lorenzo had 7,000 Indians in his following, and it is believed he will have little difficulty in rallying his old forces if he succeeds in making his way back to San Carlos or to any contiguous point. From Chorrera comes the report that he is in that locality mustering the Indians. At Bonjuela Col. Arcouea is in command of well mobilized forces.

Hay Gives Offense.
Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 2.—A correspondent here has sent a message saying the Panama canal treaty was rejected by the senate because of the imperative nature of the notes received from Secretary of State Hay and United States Minister Beaupre. These notes, the correspondent declares, were regarded as offensive.

The main question now discussed is whether the United States will be willing to enter into new negotiations, or will simply let the matter drop and take up the Nicaragua route. Immediately after the treaty was rejected exchange went up to 12,000 per cent discount.

OPERATORS RAISE COAL PRICE

Dealers Who Are Compelled to Pay More Will Get Even.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—An advance of 10 cents per ton comes with the first of September on anthracite coal, a similar advance having been made each month since May 1. The consumer is not directly affected by the rise, the retail price for Lehigh coal remaining at $6.50 per ton, 25 cents less being charged for Wilkesbarre coal. From present indications coal will not be as high this winter as last, although if monthly advances in price to dealers continue the price to consumers must necessarily be forced upward.

RAISE MONUMENT TO GOSNOLD

Shaft Is Dedicated to Founder of First New England Settlement.

Gosnold, Mass., Sept. 2.—A shaft of native boulders erected on the inlet in Cuttyhunk pond to mark the spot where, in 1602, Bartholomew Gosnold landed with his twenty-two men and founded the first English settlement in New England, and the second in America, was dedicated with appropriate exercises. The monument was erected under the direction of a committee of New Bedford and Boston men who raised by private subscription a fund for defraying the expense.

A WAY OPEN.

Many A Janesville Reader Knows It Well

There is a way open to convince the greatest skeptic. Scores of Janesville people have made it possible. The public statement of their experience is proof of the like of which has never been produced before in Janesville. Read this case of it given by a citizen:

Mr. John Stetson, of the Hotel Myers day clerk, says: "A physician pronounced my trouble kidney complaint. If the severe pain across the small of my back is any indication of the said complaint, I guess I had it. For two years I suffered with attacks sometimes virulent, sometimes a dull grinding ache, which robbed me of considerable energy. I used in addition to doctor's prescriptions several preparations said to be sure cures for kidney complaint, but until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co.'s drug store, I received little if any permanent relief. I took a thorough course of treatment prescribed by Doan's Kidney Pills and it cured me. Up to date I have not noticed any recurrence of my old trouble."

Sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

THE OTHER MAN

By FREDERIC REDDALE

Copyright, 1922, by J. P. Lippincott Company.

CHAPTER IX.

The dual wedding of Stella and Marcia was set for early in the new year, a rumor had it that Sir Arthur, moved perhaps by the sight of so much killing and cooling, would shortly afterwards console himself likewise, and put a period to his bachelorhood by leading to the altar the daughter of a neighboring county magnate.

The time was rapidly approaching, and while the girls were busied with the delightful mysteries of tresseau-building the two men, Rosker Kane and Richard Dysart, were perforce thrown much on their own resources, and naturally saw a great deal of each other. Frequent trips to town were necessary, and these they often made in company on the off-days when there was no hunting. Kane could never have told how it came about, but it was certainly not of his devising, and to have shown indifference or distaste would have been to court suspicion. And besides, the attraction was mutual; under any other conditions the older man would have been comrades with his intended brother-in-law with unfeigned heartiness.

"BISTER KANE, SIR—JUST A MINUTE, SIR."

On one of these off-day trips to London they traveled in the same compartment to Euston, and then, both being bound for the city, they chartered a hansom, which set them down at the bank. Walking up Threadneedle street, they came suddenly face to face with a shabby little man who at sight of them stopped short, threw up both hands with an indescribable gesture of surprise, and then, turning sharply on his heel, vanished round the corner.

It was Moses Plish!

"Funny little beggar," said Richard, "the last time I saw him was in Ladysmith; seemed to know us both!"

"Why, yes," said Kane, as nonchalantly as possible, "he is—or was—for I haven't set eyes on him in a long time—one of the sharpest and shrewdest dealers in stones in all South Africa. In fact," with a quiet chuckle, "I've had some dealings with him myself in the old days."

"That's curious—so have I," said Richard. "He's the man to whom I sold some stones, to remember, when I came out of the wilderness."

Arrived at the corner of Bishops-gate street they parted, agreeing to meet for luncheon. As Kane turned away with a courteous wave of the hand, a sudden thought flashed through Rick's brain and held him rooted to the curb.

"By all that's holy!" he muttered, gazing after his late companion. "Could it be possible?"

Instead of doing his errand in the city, he hailed a passing hansom, and jumping in called out to the cabby "Wellington street," and within a quarter of an hour he was with our friend the manager of the inquiry office.

"Have you anything for me?" he asked.

In response he received a legal envelope, quite bulky, which he thrust into his pocket.

"I believe all the data you asked for are there, Mr. Dysart," said the head of the concern, "and we have tabulated them in what seemed to us the order of their importance relative to your inquiry."

"Thanks," said Richard, and regained his cab.

Once within its shelter he lost no time in examining the contents of the envelope. These consisted of a series of foolscap sheets, fastened together with a brass clip at the corner, each sheet bearing at the top the name of some man more or less well known in the city or the diamond trade, with certain biographical remarks appended.

And the first sheet bore the name of Rosster Kane!

Richard replaced the envelope in his pocket and sat staring ahead at the crowded mass of vehicles in Fleet street with a puzzled frown on his face.

CHAPTER X.

Five minutes after leaving Richard, as Kane was striding along Cornhill, he was overtaken by a shambling, breathless figure in rusty black, and to the whispered appeal—

"Bister Kane, sir—just a minute, sir!" he turned his head and saw the cringing form of old Plish at his side, ducking and bowing with abject servility.

"Well, Moses, what is it?" inquired Kane, in a business-like tone, stopping short, and drawing to one side out of the way of the hurrying throng.

With an eye to the main chance, and realizing that it would be good policy to keep on the right side of the ledger with so rich a man as Kane, Plish had instantly decided to let him know that Dysart had asked certain pertinent or impertinent questions at Ladysmith, and thus forestall any possible evil consequences to himself from his wagging tongue.

"Excuse me for troubling you, Bister Kane, but ven I see you alonger 'tother vun," pointing a dirty thumb over his shoulder, "I ses to myself, ses I, 'Bister Kane might like to know that 'tother gent was makin' inkquiries about 'im.'"

"When was this, Moses?" asked Kane, coolly snapping the end off a

DECLARES WAR ON THE SULTAN

SEEK TO INVOLVE BULGARIA

Macedonians Hope to Induce Turkish Troops to Cross the Line into Prince Ferdinand's Territory and Thus Secure Outside Help.

Sofia, Sept. 2.—The Macedonian revolutionary committee has proclaimed the long anticipated general insurrection in northern Macedonia.

Gen. Zontcheff, president of the revolutionary committee, and Col. Jankoff, both of whom sign the proclamation, have taken the field to direct the revolt. They assert they have 15,000 well armed men at their command.

The territory covered by the newly proclaimed revolt comprises the district in the valley of the Struma river. It extends from the Deposito Dag, or Rhodope mountains, westward to the Vardar river and northward to the Bulgarian frontier.

Generals in Command.

Gen. Zontcheff will be in command of the northern part of the territory and Col. Jankoff in the southern district.

Heretofore the insurrection has been confined to the district of Monastir, far to the west of the river Vardar, and to a smaller area east of Adrianople.

The new insurrection, if it results as hoped for, will draw an immense Turkish army up to the Bulgarian frontier, where the danger of a clash with the Bulgarian troops will be avoided with difficulty. The revolutionary committee hopes to force Turkish troops to invade Bulgaria, and thus bring on the general war for which they have been plotting for so many months.

Select Sultan's Day.

The revolutionary committee selected for the proclamation of the new insurrection, because it is the anniversary of the sultan's accession to his throne, a day observed as a holiday throughout the Ottoman empire.

News of severe fighting is still coming in. At the village of Armenist, after a day's fighting, the Turkish troops in the night massacred the entire population of 180 men and 200 women. The Turks have also massacred the inhabitants of the village of Velest.

Threatens Massacre.

It is reported that Hilmi Pasha, the inspector general for Macedonia, refuses to leave his headquarters in the konak at Monastir. The insurgent leader, Grueff, in a letter to Hilmi Pasha, demanded that he prevent the barbarous acts of the Turkish soldiers and bashi-bazouks, otherwise the revolutionaries would massacre all the Turkish inhabitants.

The insurgents have occupied the mountain pass of Gergele on the main line from Salonica to Eskub, and Turkish troops have been sent to dislodge them.

Practice Barbarism.

The town of Malkoternovo is reported to be in a state of anarchy, the Turks plundering the houses and committing unspeakable atrocities on the women.

A strong force of Turkish infantry, cavalry, and artillery recently attacked the village of Stolovo, northward of Malkoternovo, which had been occupied by insurgents. The latter retired, after which the Turks entered the place, massacred the entire population and destroyed the village.

MOB SEEKS A NEGRO PRISONER

Jailer Cowes Forty-five Masked Men at Shawneetown Prison.
Shawneetown, Ill., Sept. 2.—A mob attacked the Shawneetown jail at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning in an effort to lynch John Griffin, a negro, who made an attack on Mrs. Joseph Hobbs, a white woman. Jailer Calloway faced the mob alone and, although he was confronted by forty-five masked men, he held the crowd off until daylight, when it disappeared.
The affair promises to develop into a race riot, although as yet no clash has taken place. Most of the colored people are upholding Griffin, declaring that as he was intoxicated and that he only scared the woman he should not be punished by death. Colored men and women have been gathering in squads in the lower part of town and some of the more cowardly ones have gone to the country.

BORT, BAILEY & CO.

An Educational Item for Cloak and Suit Buyers

THE first information you desire is, what is the correct style? All the leading cloak manufacturers and all the leading cloak Journals unite in saying that the two piece suits with fitted or semi fitted long skirted coats stand at the head of the list. The fabrics for these suits are English Tweed Effects, Fancy Mixtures and plain Venetians and Cheviots. The Louis XIV sleeve is the proper sleeve. Walking skirts are seven and nine gore with a prominent flare. The dressier skirts tend to soften and finer material in Black and Navy.

In heavier coats for outside wear, the semi-fitted and full fitted effects prevail with a strong tendency to Military capes. Blacks are particularly strong, while many Castors are being shown. The lighter tans are not considered good.

For Misses the smart short coat is most prominent, while for children from six to twelve years the long garments of Zibiline and Kersy take the lead.

We are now prepared for the Fall and Winter season, with over six hundred new garments. We have given the selection of these garments our most careful attention. We have gone right to the root of the suit and cloak business and the styles we show and the prices we make on the newest and best styles are the lowest cash prices.
